Fiesta De San Carlos Borromeo

by Virginia Shaw

One of the oldest celebrations associated with Carmel Mission, the feast day of its patron saint San Carlos Borromeo, will be revived on Sunday, November 1, with a gala fiesta and barbecue at the Basilica.

The Fiesta of San Carlos was an important religious and social event virtually from the time the Mission was founded in 1770. As many as 900 Costanoan Indians would gather for the annual celebration, which continued to be observed even through the years following abandonment of the Mission and its rebuilding. However, as the remnants of the Mission Indian tribes dwindled and dispersed, interest in the fiesta waned; the feast day was celebrated for the last time in 1937.

Now, after 27 years, the clergy and parish organizations of the Basilica hope to recapture the flavor and traditions of the early fiesta. The celebration November 1 will begin with a procession from the Basilica to the old mission courtyard, where an outdoor Mass will be heard at 12:15 p.m. From 1:00 to 5:00 o'clock, a chicken barbecue will be served in the quadrangle. Strolling musicians and dancers will provide entertainment, and booths for refreshments and games will be erected in the courtyard. As a special treat for children, pinatas will be provided every hour, and for teenagers, a dance will be held in Crespi Hall.

Junipero Serra School's annual open house has also been planned to coincide with the fiesta. All classrooms will be open November 1 from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. and faculty members will be on hand to greet visiting parents.

One of the traditional activities planned for the fiesta will be the selection of "El Capitan," honoring a member of the parish who has rendered outstanding service to church and community during the past year. The Costanoan Indians annually bestowed the title of "El Capitan" upon the tribesman chosen to be their new chief.

The feast honors an Italian nobleman, scholar and theologian born in 1538, son of the Count of Arona and Margherita del Medici, sister of Pope Pius IV. Named a Cardinal at the age of 22, Carlo Borromeo was a leader of the church reform movement during the Council of Trent, and subsequently became Archbishop of Milan and founder of the Order of (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Grand Prix Races

At Laguna Seca

This Week-End

The biggest, fastest, richest, and—if reputations of men and machinery hold true—most fiercely competitive road races in the history of the Monterey Grand Prix will get off to a roaring start tomorrow, promising a weekend of thrills and action to an anticipated crowd of 70,000 sports-car racing fans at the Laguna Seca course.

The fattest purse for any sports car race in the world—$30,000, plus accessory prizes totalling $7,000—have lured top drivers and thoroughbred cars from the United States and Europe. This year, exasperated by previous hassles over appearance money to "star performers," the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula (SCRAMP) is trying out a "no expenses" scheme and putting every penny into the winner's purse. Thus, with fame, fortune, and points toward the international sports car racing championship laid on the line, SCRAMP expects the competition—and the crowds—to surpass anything previously witnessed in 15 years of road racing on the Monterey Peninsula—and perhaps anywhere in America.

Saturday's program will feature six races for amateur—i.e., non-paid, non-professional—drivers. Sunday will offer three all-star events for professional drivers only. Practice sessions Saturday commence at 9:10 a.m., with the first of six thirty-minute races scheduled to start at 12:30 p.m. On Sunday, practice begins at 9:00 a.m., with qualifying sessions at 9:45. The first of the three big events, a thirty-minute scram-

Arts Commission Urges Rejuvenating The Forest Theater

Hopes of rejuvenating the venerable Forest Theater were discussed at last evening's meeting of the Arts Commission. Approximately $4,000 is earmarked in the city budget for the express purpose of repairing the sagging stage and improving lighting and seating in the rustic amphitheatre. Arts Commission Chairman Geza St. Galy intends to urge the city to proceed with the repairs as soon as possible.

The commission feels that much wider use should be made of the theater, especially during the summer months. In addition to continuing Sunday afternoon programs, the commission will encourage local drama and music groups to use the theater for evening performances. The commission also discussed moving an old house to the premises to serve as a caretaker's residence.

No Bus Changes

Joe Miller, manager of the Bay Rapid Transit Company office in Monterey, telephoned the Pine Cone as we were going to press to say that the California Public Utilities Commission has refused to allow the company to change Carmel-Monterey bus schedules as reported on Page Three of this issue.

As a result, bus runs between Carmel and Monterey will not be changed unless Bay Rapid's request to eliminate some of them is approved by the PUC following a public hearing on the matter in Monterey on a date, as yet, not set.

Carmel Men Plan To Build New Theatre

A group of local men are in the process of acquiring property at the southwest corner of Dolores and Seventh Streets, presently used as a parking lot for Nielsen's Grocery, for the site of a motion picture theatre to be called the Carmel Theatre.

Preliminary plans for the 550-seat theatre with off-street parking for employees, prepared by Kip Stewart, have been submitted to the Carmel Planning Commission for consideration by its design review committee, according to Floyd Adams, director of planning.

Editor's Column

When a controversial issue arises, so, all too often, does irresponsibility.

This seems to be the situation in the present annexation issue, at least judging from a letter being sent to residents of Carmel Point by a group calling itself the Carmel Point Service Area No. 1—Anti-Annexation Committee.

Referring to annexation petitions, the letter says petitions "have been signed by a few people and without any general solicitation from Walker Tract, Mission Fields and Mission Tract—all directly east of Carmel Point and touching on the present city boundaries. The strategy is to get these areas first and then try to force seven or eight areas in."

I would like to ask the signers of the letter, Claude B. Kimball, Lucile Lannestock, Mrs. Eleanor D. Ross, Stephen Kahn, Mrs. Frederick C. Dorr, Wilfred Randolph, John Walsh and E. von Schremm, to whose strategy are they referring; and, secondly, what seven or eight areas are to be forced in?

The third paragraph of the letter says, "the city council referred these petitions to the planning board and we understand the planners have found them to be quite satisfactory and are returning them to the city council for approval."

The statement is not correct in this paragraph. As required by law, the council sent the annexation petitions to the Carmel Planning Commission. The commission is studying the petitions. As yet, planning commissioners have made no recommendations to the council or indicated in any way that they find the petitions "quite satisfactory."

In the paragraph titled "How Much Will It Cost?", the letter points out that Carmel Point residents will pay more taxes if they annex to the city. This is true, but who is able to base on fact the letter's statement that city taxes will "go up on a constantly increasing trend?"

The aim of the city clerk and city auditor is to arrive at a stable tax rate. Means to do so were implemented this year in the budget's capital outlay reserve fund.

Next the letter says, "If Carmel's bonded indebtedness, outstanding, authorized or proposed amounted to one million dollars, and this is approximately correct, this amount would be prorated against the assessed valuation of the annexed areas and could cost them $250,000 . . . And we get nothing."

That "if" at the beginning of this statement is a pretty big one considering at present Carmel's bonded indebtedness, to buy Sunset School, is $575,000 and this (Continued on Page Sixteen)

The Rhyming Philosopher

Some exercise, the doctors say, is what most people need, so future generations may perpetuate the breed; and most of us can live to be at least a hundred years to counteract anxiety and overcome our fears.

So some play tennis on the courts, or rush around like mad at golf and sundry other sports, which may be good or bad. Some brave the ocean surf or hike a goodly mile or two, while others choose the pedaled bike for feats of derring-do.

All energetic sports and skills I must admire, in part, but exercising of the will's the more essential art. The will to exercise restraint, to keep a silent tongue; the will to not resent complaint from elders or the young.

As far as I'm concerned, I guess, my problems are but few—to exercise less laziness, but never overdo. I exercise my tongue at times, which isn't always wise. This nearly totals up the crimes I sometimes exercise.

There's one more sin, I hate to say, of which I'm very prone—that's after I have hit the hay, I hear the telephone. Whatever, it will have to keep, despite it's challenging. I exercise the right to sleep and let the dare thing ring!

ONLY IN CARMEL

Observed By

Magnificent though the weather is, right now in Carmel, we must not overlook the fact that winter may be just around the corner. And, not so far off, there is Christmas, with the need for new clothes, gift selections, dining out, questions of financing, etc. And, right here in Carmel, we can find the answers, which certainly beats running all over Christendom and wearing out tires and shoe leather.

And here's a tip-off about a private sale maybe you didn't know about. Commencing at 10 o'clock Sunday morning (that's right), Kent of Carmel is putting their entire stock of men's and boys' clothes on sale at 20% off. It only lasts until the end of the month, so here's your chance to stock up on the very finest in Isle of Skye Homespuns, Scotch Shetlands, Cheviots and tweeds.

English styled by the makers of Southwick clothes; also worsted and flannels in the high quality found only at Kent's. This applies to both the Men's store and the Boys store in Lincoln Court, which, as you know, is on Lincoln Street between 6th and 5th. It would be wise to get there early as possible, and you can use your charge account or use the Lay-away Plan with a deposit to hold things until just before Christmas. You can believe me—this is a genuine sale, and wait until you see some of these hand-tailored jackets and slacks in absolutely top-hole material. By George, old boy, it's a smasher!

All you aunts and uncles, grandmas and grandpas, parents and cousins—you are not doing your duty to the younger generation unless you select those Christmas gifts from the positively fabulous array of books at The Magic Fishbone. I don't blame Martha Brugeman for being so enthusiastic about the books she has in stock which are mainly for children of all ages, but fascinating and interesting, too, for adults. And such a wide variety of interest—from poetry through biography, history, mythology, folk lore, and fiction. These are books really worth reading. As a sample, take "Young John Kennedy" by Gene Schoor; or "First Ladies" by Kathleen Prindiville—all about Presidents' wives; or "Leonard Bernstein" by John Briggs, dealing with the man and his works. Of course there's Harold Courlander with his folk lore about Africa, Haiti, Indonesia and other far-off places—truly absorbing with interest. Remember—good books make good minds, and good minds make for right thinking. The Magic Fishbone, Mission Street, right back of the Clam Box restaurant.

It's very much the vogue right now to have lunch or dinner at The Coach House, in the Mall on San Carlos Street between 6th and 5th. The lunch specials here are superb, at a very moderate price, serving from 11 o'clock on. Dinner is from 5:00 o'clock until 8:00. And wait until you try the Chicken Supreme Vol-au-vent with its luscious cream mushroom sauce, or the scrumptious Shish-Kebab. A new thing on the bill of fare is the special creamy Seafood Curry, made from a recipe learned in India by Chester Montwill, the proprietor-chef. Or perhaps your fancy runs to a good steak. Well, here's where you can get it in the superb manner without having to buy the whole side of beef. You will notice the new hours, stated above—11:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. six days a week only, being closed on Sundays. The beer and wines, too, are choice. These are all reasons why I eat there. Try it for dinner, tonight. No black tie necessary.

More and more Carmel people are enjoying the lucrative fun of investing surplus funds in stocks and shares under the guidance of the associates at Irving Lundborg & Co., on Dolores Street between 6th and 5th. Every morning during the week you can join the crowd watching the latest quotations coming in from all over the world, and it doesn't cost a penny to sit in. And there's always some gentlemanly soul hovering around pleasantly willing to explain all about it, how they operate, answer your questions and give you any information available, without trying to sell you anything. In fact, there's nothing high-pressure about this operation at all. Just nice, affable local residents anxious to be of service to you, and pointing out what you can do and what you can't do, and how the stock market works, so that you can make up your own mind whether or not you wish to invest in industrial shares, for instance. Owning shares is practically owning a part of some great enterprise, making you a stockholder. It's well worth finding out about it, especially since it doesn't cost anything to ask questions or listen to the answers. (Adv.)

Guest Reviewer Douglas Taylor

The Pine Cone this year will have guest critics for major musical events. The first of these is Douglas Taylor whose review of the Carmel Music Society's Brian Sullivan concert appears in this issue of the Pine Cone.

Mr. Taylor came to live in Carmel almost two years ago after a professional singing career in Europe, Canada and Southern California. Here he teaches the technique of voice production and the art of singing.

Douglas Taylor is an Englishman. He was born in Yorkshire and began studying voice and singing there as a youth. Later he went to London to study voice with Sir Henry Wood.

His impressive career in opera, concert, oratorios and operettas continued in London. He sang on British Broadcasting Company radio and television programs and was the first baritone to sing in televised opera when he appeared in the Nile scene from "Aida" on the BBC in 1958.

In addition to voice, Douglas Taylor had early training in piano, clarinet, organ, harmony and counterpoint.

In England he was a leading singer for musical productions, including opera, at the Scarborough Open-Air Theatre, London's Drury Lane Theatre and King's Theatre in Edinburgh. For a year he had his own series of programs on Radio Luxembourg, also other shows on Radio Eireann and Radio-Diffusion et Television Francaise.

In Canada, Douglas Taylor had a CBC TransCanada 15-minute program in which he sang songs featured by music festivals throughout the world. After four years in Canada, he came to California and spent several years working in Hollywood before coming here.

His home in Carmel at Fourth and Mission is shared by his two Cairn terriers, Poj, 17 years old, and CoCo.

In 1909 he built the first of many portable motion picture cameras and projectors.

Mr. Victor joined the Society of Motion Picture Engineers—in 1916, the year it was founded. He held more than 60 U.S. patents in the field of motion pictures, and was one of the leaders in promoting safety film for home and school use.

All Saints' Episcopal Church— A Part Of Carmel Since 1910

Pledge Sunday, known to members of All Saints' Episcopal Church as "Every Member Sunday," the once-a-year appeal for support, will be held this Sunday at all services. Members of the congregation will be asked to sign cards indicating the amount they will give to the church's multiple activities during the coming year.

All Saints' Episcopal Church held its first services in a tiny basement room in Pine Inn in 1910. An Easter service, with vested choir was held in the Forest Theater in 1911.

By 1912 a Ladies' Guild was formed. It was through the efforts of the Guild and such men as William Overstreet, founder of the Pine Cone, and Albert Caudwell, who gave his services as architect, that a church was built on Monte Verde near Ocean Avenue.

The property was given by J. F. Devendorf who developed Carmel with Frank Powers.

In 1928, a parish house was built and the church, still known as a mission, was enlarged.

It was in 1936, because of its growth in membership, that the mission was named a parish. In 1941 the property on Ninth Street, extending from Dolores to Lincoln, and known as "White Cedars," was purchased as the site for a new church.

The Monte Verde Street property was sold to the city of Carmel in 1947, and the buildings are now used for Carmel's city hall.

In 1948 a new church building campaign was launched with Captain Archer M. R. Allen (USN Ret.) as chairman. Robert R. Jones, A.I.A., famous for his contemporary architecture, was engaged.

The ground-breaking service was held February 5, 1950, with the Right Reverend Winfred H. Zeigler, D.D., retired Bishop of Wyoming, officiating.

The new church was dedicated by the late bishop of the diocese of California, the Right Reverend Karl Morgan Block, D.D., LL.D.

Today All Saints' Episcopal Church, with the Reverend David Hill as rector, and the Reverend Peter Farmer associate rector, is responsible for the founding and growth of two schools. The York School for boys is college preparatory. The Reverend Dr. Emod L. Brunner, a widely experienced educator, is its headmaster and the Reverend Robert F. Morse, assistant. The present enrollment in the school's new buildings on the Monterey-Salinas highway is 84 boys.

The All Saints' Episcopal Day School, headed by the Reverend Peter Farmer, is for children of kindergarten through sixth grade age. It is non-denominational, presenting a Christian educational program, including French from kindergarten onward, and Latin, optional for sixth graders. There are 113 enrolled students.

Classes for the day school are currently held in the former Community Hospital annex. But a site 4.2 miles up Carmel Valley highway has been purchased and architects promise occupancy of the buildings in spring 1965.

All Saints' Church also supports a missionary, Miss Karen Bruckner, in South Africa.

Throughout the years the clergy has worked enthusiastically with other churches in the community. The parish hall of All Saints' is a popular meeting place for groups of all faiths. The church's young people have presented plays and entertainment attracting audiences from all parts of Monterey Peninsula.

The boys' choir, conducted by organist Robert Forbes and Monterey County Symphony Conductor John Gosling, is non-denominational and offers professional training to all boys seriously interested.

All Saints' Church mission at Big Sur is attended by persons of all Christian denominations.

Letter To Editor

Dear Pine Cone,

We would like to thank you for the help in making our concert a success.

We remain extremely indebted to you.

Editor,

Carmel Pine Cone:

Thanks for a nice job on the forestry article.

Hugh E. Smith

Editor,

Carmel Pine Cone:

The Maude Erwin Cat Foundation at 4017 Bonita Mesa Rd., Chula Vista, is a humane endeavor or badly in need of public support. The houses which shelter the 150 or so cats and kittens have fallen into disrepair. They are too warm in summer, and too chilly in winter.

The Foundation needs money for food, doctor's bills, help and services, to say nothing for rent.

There is a constant stream of lost and unwanted felines being taken in, but not nearly enough being adopted or claimed. (More publicity is needed, too, to alert the owners.)

For those who insist on aristocracy, some of the cats are grand champions, and one is 24 years old, and for others who are just soft-hearted, please help!

Yours truly,
Vivien M. Sawyer

Editor,

Carmel Pine Cone:

It was with some feeling of consternation that I read the recent news item in the "Pine Cone" about the possibility of cancelling out evening schedules of Monterey-Carmel buses.

Until about two years hence, when I expect to live permanently in Carmel, I am "commuting" between Burlingame and Carmel on the average of twice a month to take care of my recently acquired home there which I have leased until I move into it myself.

I make use of the Southern Pacific "Del Monte Special" and take the 8:30 p.m. bus to Carmel. If that run is eliminated those of us who do travel SP will have no means of public transportation to Carmel.

As it is we have to wait one-half hour for the 8:30 bus, and most are met by family or friends — I suspect because they just don't want to wait that long.

How about rescheduling the 7:15 bus to an 8:00 time, or 8:05, to accommodate the train passengers?

I realize that the Friday evening train is the only one during the week that has any amount of use—I understand that on other days there are very few passengers—and that some day SP may, despite the (up to now successful) protests of the public, persuade the powers-that-be that cancellation of the "Special" is the only reasonable solution to the problem of this money-losing run. But, in the meantime, you just might pick up some passengers and certainly would stand to gain some gratitude from those of us who do travel on public conveyances if you were to accommodate your schedule to that of the train.

(This is a copy of a letter I sent to the Bay Rapid Transit company.)

Hopefully,

M. Ruth Whitcomb

P.S. I am now owner of the home known as the "Judge Ross Place" and am thoroughly enjoying week-ends there pruning, watering, getting acquainted with the surroundings of the house I expect to make my home.

Clyde A. Scates

Clyde A. Scates, a resident of Carmel for many years and former owner of the Ocean View Motel at Junipero and Third Streets, died in a Reno, Nevada hospital on Friday, following a brief illness.

Mr. Scates was born in Tennessee in 1899. With his wife, Adele, he moved from Carmel to Reno, Nevada last July.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Scates is survived by a son, Tommy Scates, a daughter, Mrs. Robert Ross, and three grandchildren, all of Monterey.

Funeral services, followed by cremation, were held in Reno on Monday.

NOEL COWARD PLAYS AT NAVAL P.G. SCHOOL

For the next two weekends, on Friday and Saturday evenings, the Little Theatre group of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School will present "An Evening With Noel Coward," consisting of three one-act plays.

The performance of "Red Peppers," "Fumed Oak" and "Hands Across the Sea," directed by Ig Heniford, will be given in King Hall at the NPGS starting at 8:30 p.m.

Reservations may be made at the special services office at the school. Tickets are $1.50. All proceeds will go to charity.

DUO ROMEROS CONCERT

The Monterey Peninsula Concert Association will present the Duo Romeros, guitarists, as the first of the concert series on Tuesday evening, October 20, at the Pacific Grove Junior High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Admission is by membership card. Members of other prepaid associations are admitted by membership card on a space available basis.

Celin and Pepe Romero are two members of the world famous family of the guitar. These two members of the family have been chosen as duo recitalists because of their unique combination of the romantic and flamenco styles.

This is National Newspaper Week so I've been scurrying about and listening to all of you just a little bit harder than I usually do.

My first reward was a conversation between two fine-looking men.

"Democrats like brandy!" one said to the other and all the time I've been thinking members of this party were the beer and hamburger type.

Things must be looking up on this political front.

If I knew who the two gentlemen were I'd be happier. They got away before I could find out more about the brandy party.

Mrs. Jerome Carlson always buys her Pine Cone from the young salesboys outside the post office because she likes this Carmel custom. However, last week she ran into some high pressure sales tactics.

As she was about to purchase her paper from one paperboy, a nearby one called out, "Don't buy from him, he's against Salinger!"

Mrs. Carlson, marvelous campaigner that she is, stopped to talk to both the young men about her son, Pierre, and won a supporter for him.

As she walked away, the former "against Pierre" boy called out, "Don't worry, we'll both vote for Salinger."

Mrs. Carlson says she's sure Pierre can count on Carmel, now.

City Auditor Art Plaxton says things certainly quiet down around city hall when most of the council is out of town. He can't quite account for the fact that even the telephone doesn't ring as much because he figures most of the citizen's don't know their councilmen are away. He thinks it must be ESP of some sort going on. Anyway, it's been mighty quiet this week while Mayor Blanks, Vice Mayor Buffington and Councilman Steve Grant were in Los Angeles at the League of California Cities convention.

Tuesday waves roared loud along the ocean front. Sis Elber was out on the very tip of Carmel Point watching the big rollers crash then wash crescents of white water way up on the River Beach. She was also listening to a radio.

"Wagner is the proper music for these breakers," she shouted at an astounded passerby.

Seems the Howard Bruns have plumbing problems once in a while. Howie was attacking his household pipes with Dran-O on Sunday with his young son, Mark, as an interested onlooker. Howie explained about the lethal effects of the chemical compound on humans. Mark considered a while then said, "I understand, if I drink it I'd die and go to London."

Cheerio, chaps! Heaven is wheah you find it, donchah know.

Some time ago one of our august city fathers had occasion to send East for a copy of his birth certificate. He was surprised to find when it arrived that he was listed only as "Baby Boy." Ever since, whenever he displays too much city councilman heaviness at home, his family takes him down a few pegs by addressing him by the given name on the certificate.

Five guesses who it is!

Yesterday the boys in the backshop, Cliff, Larry and Gus, had their minds on something besides setting type and running the press.

Every time the editor, fast becoming more and more distraught, tried to get their attention she was met with stony stares and short shrift. The world series game on the radio took precedence over anything Marjory might have on HER disoriented mind, baseballwise that is.

But she had her reward after lunch . . . five dollar bills . . . and the boys went back to their machines a little poorer.

Today, Marjory has joined the backshop gang and, of course, her money was the first in the pool this morning.

Grabby, isn't she?

For the past month, four trees and one utility pole below the southeast corner of Dolores and Eighth there has been a mess of shattered green glass. It will take more than a band-aid to fix up anyone who should happen to get in close contact with this litter.

Beware barefoot beatniks!

And while I'm on the subject of messes, I traveled over the Pacific Grove cut-off last weekend. It was a disgrace to the Peninsula. If you wonder what happens to a lot of people's beer cans and discarded paper now you know. Litter lined both sides of this winding road through the pine forest. Shame, shame, shame somebody!

Off To Far East

Mrs. Rhea Diveley, one of Carmel's foremost directors of little theater productions and, this year program chairman for the Carmel Woman's Club, is also a tireless traveler to far parts of the world.

Two years ago Mrs. Diveley took a tour which carried her around the world. Within the next ten days she will board the S.S. Limberg, a Holland-America "luxury" freighter, bound for the Far East, India and Persian Gulf ports and will be away from Carmel until mid-March.

After sailing from San Francisco, the ship will call at 18 ports and the Carmel traveler plans to make flying trips inland, to see friends as well as world famous wonders.

In Singapore she will visit Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Choy. Mr. Choy is one of Singapore's mercantile "princes." Ardent admirers of Monterey Peninsula, both Mr. and Mrs. Choy have written Rhea that they are most anxious to hear her first-hand news of their friends here. In Hong Kong, Rhea will be the guest of Mrs. Ming Sun who is also known to many Carmelites.

With the ship in port one week at Karachi, Rhea will fly to Lahore in northern India. She will make another flying trip while the ship rests at Khoranshahr, this time to Teheran and Isfahan, to visit friends and to see the world's most exquisite mosques.

"And of course, I plan to fly from Basrah to Baghdad to see Mausita and Walter Jennings.—I wonder how many Carmelites' ears will burn then! And what will Mausita dream up to feed me? When she left Carmel she vowed she'd go native,—in her kitchen anyway," Rhea told.

"Christmas will be spent in the Persian Gulf, and I'm planning my Christmas tree right now. I'll have four whole days in the tea country. The ship will be in drydock at Calcutta and I hope to get to Tibet and then to Benares. We will call at Manila on the way home where I have heaps of friends, so, while many of the ports and sights will be brand new to me, it can hardly be said that I'm going as a stranger and alone!"

Guest From Boulder

Mrs. Robin Sawhill of Boulder, Colorado, where she is widely known as an executive of the Red Cross, also for her philanthropic interests, has been the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meade Williams.

According to Mrs. Williams, her friend's visit has been busy as well as delightful, as Mrs. Sawhill, who had not been in Carmel for a decade, wished to see all members of the large Williams family whose homes are in this area.

Film For Book Section

At the first autumn meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club book section on Monday afternoon, Robert McGinnis will present a film, "Tour of the Eastern Hemisphere," through the courtesy of Loring Moy, passenger representative for American President Lines.

Presiding at the tea tables will be Mrs. Foster Gould, Mrs. Wendell Coates, Mrs. James Lawson and Mrs. Jessie Williams Crain. Hospitality chairman, Mrs. William Sumner, responsible for preparation of the tea, will be assisted by Miss Gwen Tudor, Mrs. Ray Espien and Mrs. Mary Thomas.

Anyone For Dominoes?

With plans well under way for the Sixth Annual Symphonie d'Elegance, to be held November 14 at the Monterey Fairgrounds, Mrs. Richard Osborne, chairman, has announced a new and unique attraction.

In addition to the fashion show luncheon, the First Annual Open Domino Tournament will be held with trophies to be awarded to the winners.

Committee members assisting Mrs. Osborne in plans for the gala event, and present at a recent luncheon in the Osborne home, were Barry Wagner of San Francisco and Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Davis of Burlingame.

Other guests were Joseph B. Fratessa, Tom Ehrman, Ray Ramsey, Bill Fassett, Dick Hartford, Mr. and Mrs. John Gardiner, and Mrs. Harry A. Leonard.

Mrs. Marie Davies will select the trophies for the event. Mrs. Kenneth S. Walker and Mrs. Robert B. Morse will serve as the house committee. Richard Osborne will be score keeper. Mrs. Thomson Jay Hudson is publicity chairman.

Entry blanks may be procured by writing Mrs. Richard Osborne, Pebble Beach.

Away At School

"Both boys are away this year," Mrs. Barbara Dickson told us. Robert, who has been attending the Robert Louis Stevenson School for the past two years, is now attending the Orme School in Arizona. Roger, who is a senior at the University of California, Berkeley, is planning to continue his studies there next year in the school of dentistry. His ambition is to be an orthodontist.

NEW SHOWS AT COAST GALLERY

A triple exhibition of interest and originality will be presented in a month-long showing at the Coast Gallery, Big Sur, beginning Saturday. Mrs. LaVerne Allen, curator of the gallery, has brought together the talents and creative works of an outstanding group of photographers, painters, sculptors and fashion designers and will hold a public reception for the participating artists this Saturday afternoon from 3 until 8 o'clock.

A colorful brochure, announcing the forthcoming show and including a personal invitation to the reception has reached patrons of the gallery this week.

As part of the three-division exhibition, the Second Annual Outdoor Art Festival will be staged in the garden and on the terraces and patios of the gallery grounds.

Featured will be the works of Big

Sur painters, sculptors, potters and ceramists.

A "first" at the gallery, will be a unique fashion show, "A Glimpse Of The Holidays," a special selection from California's finest designers, arranged by Dorothy Dean Stevens of Carmel. Caryl Hill, owner of the Ananga-Ranga Trading Company of Big Sur, with headquarters at the gallery, has arranged a showing of Big Sur originals, the creative work of Lesley Kamstra of Palo Colorado.

WYNN BULLOCK

In the gallery, located on the second level, may be viewed a two-man photographic show, including representative works of Wynn Bullock and Walter Chappell. H. de Young Museum, Princeton University, University of Florida, George Eastman House Museum in Rochester, New York, and galleries in Washington, New

WALTER CHAPPELL

Like Wynn Bullock, Walter Chappell had an early education in music. He majored in musical composition and piano in the school of music at the University of Portland, Oregon. Later Mr. Chappell studied architecture and related crafts and spent a year studying interior design at Frank Lloyd Wright's Taliesin Fellowship in Scottsdale, Arizona. For several years he was a member of the staff at George Eastman House Museum of Photography serving as curator of print collection and exhibitions, interior design and doing research in the history of photography. After leaving Eastman's, Walter Chappell devoted his energies and attention to establishing Glyph Press in the New England Berkshires.

His

Tenor Brian Sullivan And Superb Accompanist Open 38th Music Society Season

by Douglas Taylor

Brian Sullivan, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, was very fortunate in having that rare and priceless partner, a brilliant accompanist, when he opened the 38th season of the Carmel Music Society at Sunset School auditorium on Saturday evening.

Sullivan has a fine, manly and upright stage presence, also an engaging manner, but he seemed to be concerned about the set of the lapses of his well-cut dress coat. These he constantly pulled together, his only sign of nervous tension.

His voice is of good quality, especially when singing from pianissimo to forte. Beyond this range of intensity, a "spread" of tone developed. This, though is preferable to certain other contemporary tenors whose voices become somewhat piercing and pinched when forced into a nasal focus under pressure. Sullivan was at his best singing opera. This is his style and it pervaded all the other varied songs.

Opening with the recitative and aria "If With All Your Hearts" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," he showed at once that he was concerned with vocal tone rather than words. The recitative was perfunctory, also rushed, and gave the impression that the singer was not thinking about the meaning of the phraseology.

(Toscanini taught Rose Bampton her part in Verdi's "Requiem" and insisted that the words and phrasing should be studied first—and then the music.)

In the next excerpt, Handel's "Sound an Alarm," Sullivan was most effective, his operatic style being highly suitable to this selection.

The second section of Brian Sullivan's program consisted of three songs by Wolf, two of which he read from his little book, thereby losing a measure of audience contact. Then came two lovely Strauss lieder, "Traum Durch Die Dämmerung" and "Zueignung." During the second verse of the latter, Sullivan improvised his own lyric. (The golden rule for professional singers is "keep going" if you forget your words as much of the audience will not be aware of a temporary loss of memory.)

Next Brian Sullivan came into his own with the aria from Giordano's "Andrea Chenier." (He told me after the concert he is now studying the principal tenor role in this delightful opera.)

As a deserved encore to the Giordano aria, Sullivan sang, with great dramatic intensity, the third act aria from "Tosca."

After intermission Sullivan, now well established with his audience, returned to considerable applause and sang the heavenly "Aubade" from Lalo's "Le Roi d'Ys" and went on to the highlight of the evening, the dream song from Massenet's "Manon." In the latter presentation, Sullivan displayed his greatest vocal asset, a beautiful mezzo voce. Two songs by Cimara completed this section of the program.

With a name like Brian Sullivan, it was inevitable that a group of Irish songs would be included in the program. There were five of these sung in a kind of Irish accent complete with the so inherent closed ee vowel. Again diction should have predominated over vocal tone, but the opera singer gave predominance to sound rather than diction—so, apart from the lovely "Down By The Sally Gardens," which was sung and played quite delightfully—intimacy was lost.

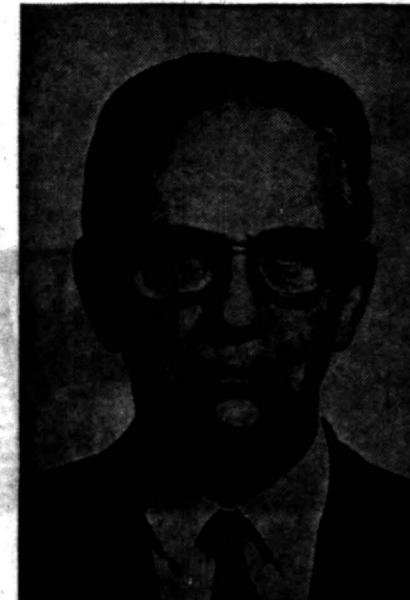

Lastly, our operatic "hero" raised himself on his toes, then clumped down on his heels in his final programmed number, "Questa O Quella" and sang the lecherous Duke's first aria from "Rigoletto" in bravura fashion. This aroused great acclamation and an encore from "Tudora," another great tune, brought Sullivan back to finish the concert with a song sung in Spanish.

To sum up—Brian Sullivan, a pleasant personality possessing a good voice with an excellent mezzo voce, plus a superb accompanist, Howard Wells, provided a delightful evening.

PROPOSITION 17 makes it possible for California to put into effect the national transportation settlements—worked out by Congress and Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson—which eliminate wasteful featherbedding in the railroad industry under terms that insure maximum job protection, yet retain two men in the cab of all trains.

These settlements are now in effect in most states—but not in California because of a conflicting "horse and buggy days" law which Proposition 17 repeals.

Judy Is Engaged

Following their marriage at Christmastime, Judith Rollin Wilkinson and Bruce Gordon Paton will live in Carmel until the latter completes his military service at Fort Ord.

The young couple's engagement is announced by Judy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Ringo Wilkinson of Pacific Palisades.

Judy, a frequent visitor to Carmel, attended Sunset School before her parents moved to Southern California. She has a bachelor's and master's degree from Stanford University and at present is doing research in clinical audiology at the University of California, Los Angeles. Dr. Gregor Wilkinson of Los Angeles is her brother and she is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clinton McCormish of Carmel and San Jose.

Her fiance attended Lawrenceville Academy before entering Stanford University where he was affiliated with Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon Paton of Smoke Rise, Butler, New Jersey, and Pompano Beach, Florida.

Reunion In San Francisco

Mrs. Hugh F. Dormody will fly to San Francisco tomorrow to week-end with Irene and Ashton Stanley at the Mark Hopkins Hotel where Ashton is managing director. The three long-time friends will attend the Cal-Navy game on Saturday. Mrs. Dormody has sold her Monterey Peninsula Country Club home and is, at the moment, undecided as to her future permanent address. Her multitude of friends are urging Florence to "certainly stay on Monterey Peninsula."

A popular hostess and widely known for her philanthropic and social activities Florence Dormody's absence from the Carmel-Pebble Beach scene would be sad indeed.

A.F.A. Judge

Paul Mills, curator of the Oakland Municipal Art Museum, was here this week to jury the American Federation of Arts competitive exhibition "Monterey County Painting—1964."

He returned last week from Argentina where he was part of a selection committee which chose paintings for the 2nd Biennial Exhibition of South American art. Representing most of the countries of South America, these paintings will travel to Mexico City, Oakland and Washington D.C.

While here, he was a house-guest of Mrs. Douglas MacGregor, president of the Carmel Art Association, and a dinner guest of Leonard Heller, president of the American Federation of Arts.

John Redhead

Presumed on his way to recovery following a brief illness, John Joseph (Jack) Redhead suffered a brain hemorrhage and died on October 7 at the age of 54 years.

Mr. Redhead, with his wife, Emily, whom he married in 1935, had made his home in Carmel for the past 22 years. Active in community affairs, he was also a respected attorney on the Monterey Peninsula.

Mr. Redhead was born July 30, 1910, near Vancouver. He attended elementary school in Seattle, Washington, and high school in Portland, Oregon. Going on to Stanford University he was awarded his B.A. in 1933, and his B.C.L. degree from Hastings Law School in 1936.

Following his admission to the bar, Mr. Redhead practiced law in San Francisco for several years where he was president of the San Francisco Barristers' Club.

When the United States entered World War II, Mr. Redhead made every effort to enlist in military service. A physical disability, later corrected, prevented his acceptance, but not to be deterred in "doing his bit" he offered his services to the San Francisco Naval Shipyard and became its wartime assistant superintendent.

On the Monterey Peninsula after the war, he established the law offices of Redhead and Ham in Monterey and lived on Monte Verde Street in Carmel, later on Lower Trail.

Mr. Redhead served as president of the Peninsula Community Chest in 1950, and was a candidate for Monterey County Supervisor in 1952. He was also a member of the Monterey County and California State Bar Associations and a former member of the Republican Central Committee.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Redhead is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bonnie Lynn Babb of Washington, D.C., a graduate of Carmel High School and Stanford University; and Pamela Redhead, a student at Carmel High School.

A requiem mass was celebrated Saturday morning in Carmel Mission Basilica. Honorary pall bearers were Judge Eugene Harrah, Commander Frank Reiser (USN), Van King, Jr., Lawrence J. Collins, Pacific Grove Police Chief Ernest R. McAnaney, and J. Randolph Kennedy.

Burial took place in the Roman Catholic section of Mission Memorial Park.

Mrs. Babb will remain in Carmel, with her mother and sister, until Sunday, then return to her home in Washington D.C.

Mabel Nichols

Mrs. Mabel Nichols, a resident of Monterey Peninsula for the past 20 years, died on Thursday afternoon following a long illness.

Mrs. Nichols was born in Castroville, February 14, 1885. She is survived by two sons, Teaby and Dean Nichols of Seaside, and a daughter, Mrs. Mark (Iola) Luster of Carmel.

Funeral services were held on Monday in Cook's Seaside Mortuary and burial took place in Mission Memorial Park.

World's Funniest Man Charlie Chaplin, Tells All In Autobiography

"MY AUTOBIOGRAPHY," by Charles Chaplin. (Simon & Schuster) Wells Book Stores.

Charlie Chaplin, the world's funniest man, was born in London, England, just about two years and two miles from where I was born, so I know something of the account of his early boyhood and the times. Chaplin's autobiography is not a funny story, but it does point up the fact that poverty, extreme poverty, is no bar to success and wealth.

Like Chaplin, I have almost total recall of my life at the age of four and five, despite the disparaging remarks made by some reviewers to the effect that he must have taken a lot of notes to remember so much of his early years.

Not many men have the courage to recite the miseries and humiliation of their boyhood in a poorhouse; but Chaplin is outspoken in his memoirs, and makes for fascinating reading. He tells about the early days of London vaudeville, and the beginnings of the movie industry. From his private albums, he has provided 113 photos of London scenes, early movies, celebrities with whom he has had contact throughout his life, together with factual accounts of his experiences, trials, defeats and successes, told in as dignified and dispassionate manner as possible. Within the book is a fascinating document of his rise to fame, spellbinding in each of its 519 pages.

It is being published simultaneously in nine countries. My library would not be complete without it.

SEEKING CHARM?

ON A BIG SCALE? . . . Delightful twelve-year-old, Architect designed home in the "old aristocracy" area of California's first Capital City. Rambling, split-level modern home built by present owner to accommodate growing family with variety of interests. Now, the children are grown and the owner reluctantly offers for sale this unique five bedroom, three bath home surrounded by handsome trees on one-half acre of land with some water view. Walking distance all schools. Listed at $59,500 which includes many pieces of built-in furniture. This is a rare opportunity.

ON A SMALL SCALE? . . . Suitable for only one or two adults and they should appreciate the unusual. The Artist-owner has gone to the desert to paint. She left behind one of the prettiest two bedroom homes one could expect to find. Some modernization might personalize it for the new owner. Set in formal garden with many rare and beautiful trees and shrubs. In choice Monte Regio area. Listed at only $25,000 with good financing assured.

LOIS IS AT A LOSS FOR WORDS!

In fact, she doubts if even the Greeks would have words to describe the view from this private 5 acre knob on the top of Jack's Peak. If you can imagine hovering in a helicopter at about 1000 feet above Carmel High School, you might have some idea of the sweep of a view that takes in all of lovely Carmel Bay, Pt. Lobos, the Valley mountains, and Santa Cruz across Monterey Bay . . . Sigh! . . . Well, then there's a low-slung house fitted right onto the top of this knoll with the view from all its windows—a comfortable, unpretentious 2 bedroom and den or studio, and a lot of miscellaneous items like kennel-runs for three dogs, an auxiliary electrical system, a bomb shelter, complete fencing, a corral. Used to have a specimen orchard of dwarf fruit trees, but tenants let it die. Specially prepared soil still there, though, and the landscaping is done with natives and succulents. You really should see it, and bring your camera along. You'll not likely have an opportunity to get this bird's-eye view anywhere else except from an airplane. By the way, the price is only $69,500.

Trustees Approve School District Office Facility

The board of education, last night, spent an hour considering which should have priority, a new library at the high school or a central office and instructional materials center for the Carmel Unified School District.

In the end, trustees voted for the latter which will be built on the Carmel Junior High School campus. Actual construction cost is not to exceed $100,000, the board's motion stated.

Other board action included approving a request for a push-button stop light at the intersection of Atherton Drive and Highway One; implementation of a citizens advisory committee to aid the board in making a survey of the entire education program, kindergarten through twelfth grade; employment of Mrs. Jeanne Crow (the former Jeanine Fratessa) as part-time English and social studies teacher at the junior high, also the employment of Mrs. Eleanor Hanson to teach social studies and world history at the same school.

Donald Craig, teacher of Spanish at the high school, reported to the board verbally on his sabbatical year in Europe and the United States. Mr. Craig also submitted the first section of a written report on his observations on language teaching both abroad and in this country.

Superintendent Medill Bair reported that total enrollment in the district was below the figure projected for this year. Total attendance, as of October 7, was 2728 students. (This is only 19 students more than in June.)

County Symphony Association Asks For Financial Aid

The Monterey County Symphony Association, faced with the largest budget in its history—$29,213—and an operating deficit of $2,000, will campaign on a county-wide basis this month for membership contributions and other donations.

Symphony association president, H.G. (Tony) Royal, has announced that James M.R. Glaser will spearhead the fund drive on the Peninsula. As an added incentive this year, association members will be invited to attend a gala "membership only" rehearsal of the February concerts, featuring the internationally celebrated pianist, Grant Johannesen.

In order to erase the symphony's budget deficiency, membership contributions and donations must total at least one-third of this year's income.

The other two-thirds of necessary symphony income is expected to come from ticket sales and special contributions from such organizations as the Monterey Peninsula and Salinas Chapters of the Symphony Guild, the Monterey Peninsula Junior League and others. Membership contributions may now be sent to the Monterey County Symphony, Box 3851, Carmel.

Lagorio Lecture

Irene Lagorio, Carmel artist and art historian, will present an illustrated lecture on French Romanesque art and architecture for members and friends of the American Federation of Arts at the A.F.A. gallery on October 22 at 8:00 p.m.

In her talk, entitled "Signs of the Times," Miss Lagorio will demonstrate how events and personalities shaped the unique art forms of the Romanesque. She has prepared especially for her lecture a series of slides made from her original drawings illustrating personal experiences in her search of the French Romanesque.

The prints, paintings, murals and mosaics of Irene Lagorio have been exhibited in museums and galleries throughout the United States, South America and Japan, and lately, have adorned the walls of numerous business establishments. Among her commissions are paintings and metal sculptures for branches of the U.S. National Bank of Oregon, a Venetian glass mosaic wall for the veranda of the luxury liner S.S. President Roosevelt, and sculptures and "jewel paintings" for the Mark Thomas Inn in Monterey. Just completed is a metal sculpture of birds in flight executed for the facade of the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bissantz at Sixteenth and Carmelo.

Miss Lagorio, former curator of the Achenbach Collection at the San Francisco Legion of Honor, had her first local one-man show at the Laky Gallery.

Thursday's lecture will be open to the public as well as A.F.A. members. Tickets are available at the A.F.A. Gallery on Lincoln Street near Seventh, at $1.00 for members and $1.50 for non-members.

Officer Sutherland was born in Gallup, New Mexico. He served in the U.S. Army from 1948 to 1952, and spent 18 months of this service in Japan. He has a diploma from Albuquerque Business College, studied industrial design at Los Angeles Art Center School for one year and for another year and a half was a student at the Carmel Art Institute.

Fiesta De San Carlos Borromeo November 1

(Continued From Page One) the Oblates. His saintliness derived principally from his work for the poor and infirm; during the Plague of 1576, he travelled throughout his diocese giving personal aid and comfort to the victims, and contributing large sums of money to the needy. He died in 1584 at the age of 46, and in 1610, was canonized by Pope Paul V. San Carlos de Borromeo was the patron saint of King Charles III of Spain, in whose honor the Viceroy of Mexico wished to dedicate one of the California missions. Thus it was that in 1770, San Carlos was named patron saint of the church first established in Monterey, and later moved by Father Serra to its present site by the Carmel River, where it was known as Mission San Carlos del Rio Carmelo.

Under the guidance of the Rev. Edward Poschen, assistant pastor of the Basilica, four parish organizations are cooperating in plans for the fiesta: the Knights of Columbus, the Mothers Club of Junipero Serra School, the Catholic Daughters and the Altar Society. Harry Downie, who was instrumental in the mission restoration, is supplying historical background material. The fiesta committee is particularly interested in contacting local residents who recall the earlier San Carlos fiestas. Anyone having such information is asked to telephone Mrs. Sal J. Nicita of Carmel.

Tickets for the barbecue may be purchased in advance at the Mission or by telephoning Mrs. Paul Rogers (624-8806). Tickets for the barbecue and the teen-age dance will also be available at the fiesta.

Editor's Column . . .

(Continued From Page One) amount will be entirely paid by the motel tax. Not a cent is to come from property owners' pockets. And the whole community gets a cultural center — Carmel Point as well as Carmel. Interest over the amortization period of the bonds, will bring the total debt to $848,445.50.

Lastly, the letter says, "the Carmel council also has the right at the time of annexation to assess the annexed areas on a prorata basis for the value of property and improvements the city now owns. More facilities are necessary to attract and take care of visitors coming to Carmel and this is important to Carmel business interests, but why should the suburban residents be asked to participate in these costs with no apparent benefits?"

It is true that the council could prorate cost of property and improvements, but there has been absolutely no statement to this effect. Moreover, the city council has given no indication that it does, or ever will, provide facilities "to attract and take care of visitors." The city's zoning law states that now and in the future all business will be subordinate to the residential character of the city.

The letter ends by calling the annexing of Carmel Point to the city a "ridiculous proposal." I do not think it is ridiculous for persons to seek the right to direct their destinies through self-government, a privilege Point residents would gain by joining Carmel.

The letter ends by calling the reduction in fire insurance premiums an "insignificant" saving. But there is no mention at all of the saving that would accrue to residents of the Point by special service taxes they now pay being abolished if they annex to Carmel.
